Ramps Logistics Shortlisted for Breakbulk Award with MAWI

Ramps Logistics continue to gain global recognition for Caribbean-built innovation as MAWI was shortlisted for a Breakbulk Award.

They were shortlisted for the 'Best Logistics Strategy for an Energy Project' at the 2025 Breakbulk Awards, marking the first time a technology created in the Caribbean has been recognised on this world stage.

This honour underscores Ramps Logistics' shift from traditional logistics to technology-driven solutions and highlights the Caribbean's growing influence in the future of global supply chains.

"Breakbulk is one of the world's largest and most prestigious gatherings for project cargo and logistics. Its awards have celebrated landmark projects with energy and industrial leaders and for MAWI to now stand alongside these names shows that Caribbean innovation is no longer on the sidelines, it is part of global conversations."

MAWI is the world's first AI-driven customs brokerage platform. It slashes clearance times from hours to minutes, streamlines compliance, and keeps vital cargo moving. Already in use by energy operators in Trinidad and Guyana, MAWI is cutting port congestion, reducing emissions, and ensuring equipment for both oil and renewables reaches its destinations faster.

"This recognition is more than a nomination. It is proof that AI is unlocking opportunities for the Caribbean to innovate, to expand beyond traditional boundaries, and to redefine how companies are built. MAWI demonstrates that technology born in the region can scale globally and shape the future of logistics."

At its debut earlier this year, MAWI won the 'Innovation & Technology Challenge' at the Trinidad and Tobago Energy Conference.

Upcargo Logistics Share Latest Multimodal Operations

Upcargo Logistics report a successful multimodal operation through Panama's logistics hub.

They recently managed a unique breakbulk ocean shipment that began in the USA with the final destination in the Netherlands and a transshipment planned through Manzanillo, Panama. However, due to vessel delays upon arrival at the Manzanillo terminal, together with their partner in the USA, Upcargo made the strategic decision to interrupt the maritime transit.

Julio Afú, Project Cargo Specialist at Upcargo explains; "The artwork, valued at USD $550,000, was carefully retrieved from the port, transferred to the airport, and re-routed via airfreight directly to Amsterdam. This ensured our client's commitment to an exhibition deadline was met without compromise.

Thanks to Panama's logistics hub, close collaboration with our US partner, and our team's swift coordination, the cargo arrived right on time - a clear demonstration of flexibility, reliability, and customer focus in action."

Construction of a reinforced bypass to navigate restricted river bridges, showcasing EXG's ability to engineer solutions in challenging terrains.

EXG Deliver Transformers with Expertise, Safety & Planning

Express Global Logistics (EXG) recently handled a delivery of transformers with expertise, safety, and comprehensive planning.

Every large movement has its own challenges, and this one was no exception. EXG recently undertook the transportation of three heavy transformers, weighing a combined 225mt, from a manufacturing base in Western India to a power project site in the Eastern Himalayan region. The assignment demanded not only technical accuracy but also patience, foresight, and disciplined execution..

The transformers were loaded on hydraulic trailers configured into 21 axles in total. This setup ensured that weight was distributed safely, giving the flexibility to adapt to conditions along the way. Before the convoy moved, the EXG team conducted a detailed route study, identifying every possible obstacle, from bridges and tight gates to narrow stretches, plantations, and low-clearance railway crossings. These inspections proved crucial once the journey began.

One of the earliest hurdles was a bridge with a much lower load capacity than the cargo demanded. To make the crossing possible, the load was shifted onto a 9-axle configuration, reducing pressure on the structure. Soon after, the first access gate tested manoeuvrability with a sharp turn, which was managed using a 6-axle adjustment. Each decision reflected the balance between equipment capability and on-the-ground expertise.

Railway crossings introduced another layer of complexity. With only 14ft of clearance available, the passage had to be managed with precise timing and constant communication between teams on either side. The plantation stretch, nearly 9km long, also brought its own challenges - uneven roads, soft surfaces, and limited space for such heavy trailers. The ground crew reinforced sections of the path where required, ensuring that the cargo advanced steadily. Low-hanging electrical lines were addressed through scheduled shutdowns arranged in advance, eliminating any safety risk.

Further into the route, two river bridges were found unsuitable for the load. The EXG engineers designed and built a temporary bypass strong enough to handle the trailers. This solution, prepared and tested on-site, allowed the cargo to move forward without delay. Later, a second railway crossing with similar clearance issues demanded another round of close coordination with railway authorities to guide the convoy through safely.

Through every stage, safety remained the highest priority. Crowd management measures were put in place to protect local communities, and constant updates were shared with stakeholders to ensure complete transparency. Despite the scale of the cargo and the restrictions of the terrain, the project was executed with accuracy and without incident.

"This was more than the movement of three transformers. It was a demonstration of experience built over decades, of a team that knows how to adapt, and of a company that never compromises on safety or precision. For Express Global Logistics (EXG), every axle that turns represents not just heavy equipment on the road, but a promise of the reliability and trust values that have guided us for over 80 years."

CF&S are Powering Estonia's Energy Future

CF&S recently managed the transport of a 115mva transformer from Turkiye to Estonia.

The 127tn main unit and 100tn of parts arrived at Paldiski South Port and the cargo was safely discharged using a Liebherr LHM-550 crane, followed by final delivery by road.

Tight port schedules, heavy lift coordination, and oversized road permits required precise planning and teamwork at every stage.

2025 Annual Summit in London

Project Cargo Network (PCN) celebrated its 15th anniversary in true style with a three-day event at the Park Plaza Victoria in London, bringing together over 200 delegates from more than 75 countries.

The purpose was clear – to reconnect, strengthen relationships, and turn conversations into meaningful business opportunities among PCN members.

A RETURN TO OUR ROOTS

London, where PCN's story began, was the perfect setting for this milestone occasion. The central location gave delegates easy access to Westminster, Buckingham Palace, and the capital's famous dining and arts scene.

The event began on Sunday with an optional London Highlights Tour followed by a fun-filled Welcome Games & Dinner, where delegates relaxed playing the casino tables, shuffleboards, and caricaturists, the ideal icebreaker ahead of the busy days to come. See photos.

Monday saw the start of focused 1-2-1 meetings, followed by a spectacular 15th Anniversary Dinner at the Underglobe beneath Shakespeare's Globe Theatre. Guests were welcomed to a truly magical venue, where the evening included several surprises including two Shakespearean actors who delighted guests with a three-part "Lovers' Tiff" between courses. See photos.

Before the night ended with dancing to an incredible Ibiza-style saxophonist, a special visit and short speech was made from long-time supporter Didier Wirtz, who flew in from Belgium especially for the occasion.

Tuesday continued with more productive 1-2-1 sessions and wrapped up with a relaxed Farewell Evening at The Hawk's Nest, where guests enjoyed live music, sourdough pizzas, cocktails, and donuts — the perfect close to three unforgettable days. See photos.

"It was indeed good to see our old friends and make new ones. Congratulations to Rachel n team for a great event. PCN has been a journey not just on business....friendship in logistics. A lifetime of friendship. God bless all. Stay safe and healthy. See you next year."
Puvaneaish - Kagayaku Logistics

BEYOND THE CELEBRATIONS

The event was a powerful reminder of PCN's greatest strength: its people. In an age of digital communication, the value of face-to-face interaction was clear, helping build trust, speed up decision-making, and spark new business for member companies. See photos

"Thank you, PCN, for the invitation and the fantastic organization of the 15th Summit. I'm genuinely grateful for the opportunity and especially for the incredible people I met during the event. Each conversation and connection made it a truly inspiring experience."
Fabio Falcon Campos - Rex Cargo

During the event, Founder and CEO Rachel Crawford shared some heartfelt words:

"Handling project cargo isn't for the faint-hearted, it takes precision, teamwork, and commitment. You face complex challenges every day and still find a way to deliver. You are the world's best problem-solvers, and that's what sets you apart."

Rachel also shared how PCN came to life: "I started my first freight network – Universal Freight Organisation – 25 years ago. When it reached its 10th year, one of our members encouraged me to consider launching a new network focused solely on heavy lift and project cargo. Within a month, PCN was born. Our first six members joined right away, and demand was so high we held our first meeting within a year, right here in London! Over 80% of members came, and from there, the network has grown steadily to become the largest specialist network in the world.

Over the years, we've seen countless friendships form, people from every corner of the globe coming together and building lasting relationships. That's what makes this work so rewarding."

"Thank you Rachel and your team for this wonderful event! It is not only for business gathering but also for opportunity sharing! I enjoyed the conversation with friends these days! See you in Oman next year!"
Martin Zhao - Topline Express Logistics

CELEBRATING SKILL AND STRENGTH

As part of the anniversary, PCN also hosted its Mighty Moves Photo Competition, receiving over 100 incredible entries showcasing the precision and creativity behind our members' projects.

Congratulations to Freightplus in Australia, whose winning photo earned them a free registration for the PCN 2026 Annual Summit in Oman.

LOOKING AHEAD

After fifteen remarkable years, PCN continues to grow stronger — powered by the same spirit of trust, collaboration, and professionalism that brought its first members together in London back in 2010.

Here's to the next chapter — and to the extraordinary people who make PCN what it is today.
